CONGRESSMAN M'KINLAY HERE

Standpatter From The Pacific Coast.

Makes Interesting Talk To Good Sized Audience At the Court House—Uses With Skill and Adroitness the Stock Republican Arguments For a Bigger Navy, High Tariff and Ship Subsidy—Introduced by Morehead.

Congressman Duncan McKinlay, of California, addressed a good-sized audience at the court house last night. A great many Democrats joined the Republicans in going out to hear the Californian, who is known as one of the "big guns" of the party.

Prior to the opening of the speech-making, the Gibsonville Cornet Band played a selection.

Mr. McKinlay was introduced by Republican State Chairman John M. Morehead. He made a vigorous and able address, defending Republican policies with great skill and adroitness. He is a clean-shaven man, strongly built and with a strong face and while he is not an orator he has a brisk, business like way of talking that is quite attractive.

For the most part his speech was a matter-of-fact discussion of national questions unrelieved by wit and humor, but towards the close he worked in one or two good jokes which set the crowd to laughing.

Mr. McKinlay first set out to defand his party against the charge of extravagance. He said the Democrats had much to say about the billion dollars appropriated by Congress. It was true that it was a billion dollar Congress, but were the Democrats in power and attending to business and managing the affairs of the country as sound business sense demanded they should be managed they also would find it necessary to spend a billion. He developed the stock Republican argument about this being a great country and about its requiring a vast sum of money to maintain it. In commenting on the physical expansion of the country he said, "I have seen the stars and stripes within 60 miles of the coast of British Boreno." "We are," he added, "the richest nation on the face of the earth by nearly 100 per cent."

Then he took the various appropriations of Congress one by one and declared that not one of them could have been reduced without detriment to the cause of good and effective government. He defended evry appropriation and declared that not a dollar was spent wrong. One of his arguments in defense of the pension of $158,000,000 was that it helped business to have so much money scattered around through the country. He devoted some time to each of the appropriations, army, navy, postoffice department, rivers and harbors, consular service, agricultural department and so on.

After enumerating and excusing the size of the appropriations he addressed himself to the task of telling how the money for these appropriations was obtained. This led him into a discussion of the internal revenue tax, the corporation tax, the receipts from Federal courts, and the receipts of the postoffice department and finally the tariff.

Mr. McKinlay came here with the reputation of being a pronounced standpatter and he lived right up to his reputation last night. He said, in substance, that the Payne tariff law was plenty good enough for him. He made the usual argument for protection, namely, that it develops and fosters manufacturing, that the factory people have work and can thus buy of the farmers and make them prosperous.

He said that this country had tried a low tariff six times and always with disastrous results.

There were three classes of people, he maintained, who wanted low tariffs. These were the men with fixed incomes, the importers and the Democrats.

He insisted that the Republican plan of tariff taxing at a high rate articles in the manufacture of which other countries competed with this was the correct policy, for the very rich would buy the imported stuff no matter how great the cost and would thus be paying the best part of the tariff taxes.

He dwelt at length on the danger that the Asiatics will become a great manufacturing people and, working as they can at a wage of one dollar a month, will flood the world with pauper made goods.

He closed with an argument for ship subsidy.

Mr. McKinlay arrived yesterday afternoon on the train from Wilmington and was met at the station by a delegation of prominent Republicans and conveyed in an automobile to the McAdoo where he stopped while here.

QUIET CHURCH WEDDING

Miss Lorena Hedgepeth and Mr. William Fluharty Married Last Night.

A marriage of unsual interest to many Greensboro people and friends throughout the State was celebrated last night in St. Barnabas' church at 9 o'clock when Miss Lorena Hedgpeth and Mr. William Fluharty plighted their troth, Rev. Thomas G. Faulkner officiating.

Quite an elaborate wedding had been planned, but owing to the ill-health of the bride's mother it was thought best to abandon it for a quiet marriage.

This marriage unites two famous ancestral families, the bride being a great granddaughter of the late Polish general, John Rosemond, who fought with much distinction in the struggle between Poland and Russia. The groom is a grandson of Col. H. A. Barry, of Baltimore, and is a successful civil engineer.

Only the immediate families of the couple were present at the marriage.

The bride was gowned in a navy blue tailored suit with hat and accessories to match and wore a handsome pearl and diamond brooch, the gift of the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left on No. 12 for northern cities.

They will be at home in Reidsville after Nov. 1, where the groom is engaged in installing a new water and light system.

AFTERNOON TEA

Mrs. W. B. Vaught Charmingly Entertained Number of Friends Yesterday Afternoon.

Yesterday afternoon at her home on Summit avenue from four to five-thirty o'clock Mrs. W. B. Vaught charmingly entertained a number of friends at an afternoon tea. The home had been artistically decorated for the occasion and the colors in the several rooms blended most harmoniously. Despite the cold drizzling rain a large number of Mrs. Vaught's friends braved the elements and went to her home, inside of which the surroundings were in marked contrast with the rough weather on the outside and everyone felt more than repaid for braving the rain.

In the front hall, which was decorated with palms and chrysanthemums, Mrs. Crabtree and Miss Bert Mebane received the guests and ushered them into the parlor.

In the parlor the decorations were effected with palms, ferns, white chrysanthemums, while white candles shed a soft glow over the room. Here Mrs. Vaught, Mrs. J. K. Keith and Mrs. Chas. Roberson received. In the library, where the color scheme was effected with ferns, red dahlias and red candles, Mrs. W A. Hewitt, Mrs. F. P. Hobgood, Jr., and Mrs. Lindsay Hopkins were stationed.

In the dining room Mrs. Malone Wheeless and Mrs. Parran Jarboe poured tea, while Mrs. L. M. Humphrey and Miss Alice Callum served sandwiches, almonds and mints. The decorations were in pink, being effected with pink carnations and pink candles. The colors were carried out in the refreshments.

Brockmann's orchestra rendered a number of selections that added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Official Board of Centenary Church.

At the quarterly conference of Centenary Methodist church on Tuesday night the following were elected to serve as stewards for the coming conference year: Messrs. B. E. Jones, T. A. Glascock, E. E. Bain, C. C. Hudson, S. M. Bumpass, J. W. Merritt, B. E. Smith, John A. Hodgin, R. L. Woodard, Sam Browne, W. G. Simpson, J. E. Faulkner, L. A. Atkinson, J. R. Pitts, J. P. Sanders, R. T. Thomas, H. W. Clendenin, A. A. Hinkle, and A. A. Johnson. Mr. John W. Lewis was re-elected superintendent of the Sunday school. Presiding Elder Ware complimented the church on the splendid work done this year along all lines.

RAIN A DAMPER ON STATE FAIR

Attendance Was Quite Gratifying, However.

Thousands Waded Through Mud and Water and the Day Greatly Enjoyed—People Kept Indoors and the Exhibits Were Studied More Carefully Than Would Have Been Done Otherwise—Raleigh Couple Wed.

Raleigh, Oct. 19.—Rains made big inroads on the State Fair program for Wednesday of fair week, but it proved really enjoyable and exceptionally profitable for the thousands of people who braved the stormy conditions and visited the fair grounds. The crowds were kept in the buildings, most of the time, practically putting the midway out of business. The section of the fair grounds devoted to exhibits of cattle and hogs was also largely cut off by the rain and mud. And the races were knocked out.

However, the crowds in the buildings really crowded them and the exhibits doubtless came in for much closer and more profitable inspection than would have otherwise been the case. The attention of the fair visitors was more readily caught by demonstrators and the merits and benefits of the exhibits much better impressed than is usually the case in a fair.

On every hand there was high commendation of the fine new horticultural and agricultural building of reinforced concrete. There is general talk of the necessity of proceeding without further delay in the construction of a series of similar buildings to accommodate the fair for the future. The plan being talked is the issuance of bonds sufficient for this purpose so that the State fair will no longer be handicapped by insufficient and ill-designed buildings. This matter is to come in for special consideration at the annual meeting of the society Thursday night.

The fair management and the crowds are hoping for better weather conditions for the remainder of fair week, but if the rain continues buildings are sufficiently well arranged as to afford ample room for the crowds to be well protected from the rain and the great fair will move forward inspite of the rain.

Col. W. P. Wood, Democratic nominee for the State auditorship to succeed the late B. F. Dixon, was today elected secretary of the board of directors of the North Carolina Soldiers' Home to succeed Major Dixon. The meeting of the directors was held in the office of Col. A. B. Andrews and was devoted to the consideration of the routine affairs of the home. It was the first meeting since Col. Wood was appointed by the governor as the successor to Major Dixon as a director.

Tuesday night in Christ Episcopal church there was the marriage of Commander Allen G. Rogers, retired, United States Navy, and Miss Margaret Haywood Cameron Trapier. The ceremony was in the presence of a large audience and the special decorations of cosmos and asparagus ferns, with the rich altar draperies and candles made a lovely setting for the marriage service by Rev. M. A. Barber, the rector. The bride was given away by Mr. S. A. Ashe, Jr., the best man was Mr. Duncan Haywood Cameron, of Canton, China, and the other attendants were Miss Bessie Trapier and Miss Bessie Hughes, of Texas, and Mr. F. P. Haywood and Mr. C. D. Mackey. Commander and Mrs. Rogers have gone for a bridal trip after which they will be at home in this city he having just completed a handsome home on Glenwood avenue.

FUNERAL OF DR. CLAPP.

Services Held From Late Residence Yesterday Morning—Interment In Green Hill.

The funeral of Dr. John C. Clapp, whose death occurred at his home at Whitsett Tuesday morning, was held from the late residence yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. D. Andrew, of Burlington. A large number of the friends of the deceased were present to pay their last tribute of respect. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

Following the services the remains were brought to Greensboro and the interment made in Green Hill cemetery. A large concourse followed the remains to their last resting place.

JUSTICE AT OAK RIDGE.

Ex-Speaker Made Convincing Speech There Tuesday—Democratic Club Organized.

Oak Ridge, Oct. 19.—A large and enthusiastic audience of some three hundred gathered here yesterday to hear Hon. E. J. Jsutice and the county candidates. Hon. F. P. Hobgood was called away to fill an engagement for Gen. Royster and Mr. Justice was the principal speaker. He spoke an hour and a half. The general verdict is that no speech of such convincing power has been heard here in a generation. He was introduced by Prof. J. Allen Holt, as a "man who has always something to say, who believes what he says and is always ready to act according to his belief when time for action comes."

Mr. Justice did not deal in abuse and makes taking a fall or two out of District Attorney Holton his speech was entirely without personal allusion. He began by saying that men who believed alike must act together to accomplish their purpose, or else those who do organize will thwart the people's will. He said that the Savior recognized the necessity of organization when he organed the Christian church, through which every advance of science and civilization had come. He said that a party was a means not an end and that if the Democratic party became inefficient it could no longer claim a man's allegiance. He said he was a Democrat because that party stood for the principles which he believed in. Even if he didn't he did not know where he could turn in this year of grace when every Republican of conscience in the northwest was turning from the stand-pattism of Taft, Cannon and Aldrich. He showed that while the whole country was "spewing" out such men as Tawney, Aldrich, Burrows and Hale, the leaders of the Republican part yin this State were still worshipping the setting sun and bowing to the fleeting shadows of Cannoism. Butler, Morehead, Cowles, Blair and Grant were all stand-patters; that Morehead was conceived by stand-pattism delivered by Butler and that Holton danced around holding the bottles and spilling the medicine in his awkwardness. He then launched into a lucid discussion of the tariff, the trusts, the railroad discriminations, the money power and the subsidies. He showed these up in a powerful exposition individually and collectively and declared that only by the combination of the people could our liberties be preserved. In North Carolina, he said, the Democratic party alone offered any place for men who might right these wrongs; that while now and then a Democrat would lapse from rectitude and betray the platform, the Republicans had in every case shown that they disregarded the desires of the best men of that party and stood four square in the defense of "the interests," the tariff barons, the trust magnates, and those who are manipulating the money market, have the power to bring on panics for their own selfish ends. It was when he touched upon the Dukes and tobacco trust and spoke of seeing the white women and children in the fields, instead of being at home and school that he brought thunderous applause as he depicted with righteous indignation the Dukes rioting in ill-gotten wealth and dissipating in divorce.

A Democratic club of 170 members has been formed and its first meeting will be held at Stokesdale Saturday night.

Several ladies were in the audience today.

A QUIET HOME WEDDING

Miss Maude Pickard Becomes the Bride of Mr. Robert S. Wimbish.

Last night at 9 o'clock at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. T. M. Pickard, 235 North Cedar street, Miss Maude Pickard was united in marriage to Mr. Robert S. Wimbish, of Roanoke.

The marriage had been announced as going to take place, but the time had been kept a secret and the marriage was to that extent a surprise.

Rev. Mr. Wimbish, of Stuart, Va., father of the groom, performed the ceremony, which, while informal, was beautiful and impressive. The bride was attired in a becoming going away dress of brown with hat and gloves to match.

The couple left on No. 38 for a trip to northern cities. The bride is a lovely young woman of amiable disposition. The groom is a young traveling man in the employ of a large Baltimore firm and with headquarters at Roanoke. Mr. and Mrs. Wimbish will be at home at the Ponce De Leon hotel in Roanoke after Nov. 1.

GAZZAM SOUL MATE LED TO THE ALTAR

Young Engineer, Long Wooed by Psychic $3,000,000 Heiress, Succumbs and Weds.

New York, Oct. 19.—After a story voyage on that mystic astral sea where soul-mate gropes blindly for soul-mate amid psychic cross-currents that often lead one astray, Antoinette Elizabeth Gazzam, the $3,000,000 heiress of Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, came safe to port today and was married to Charles B. Galvin, a $1300-a-year engineer in the employ of the Aqueduct Commission. The ceremony was performed in the parish house of St. Thomas' Roman Catholic church, at Cornwall, N. Y., in the presence of all the Galvins and none of the Gazzams. After the wedding supper the married pair left for Philadelphia.

Thus endeth a romance that sets a new mark for the new woman as well as for the soul-mate hunter, for the comely young heiress frankly admits that she did the wooing and that her Charley had to be won just as the reluctant beauteous maids of fiction are captured by their undaunted suitors.

C. B. Galvin had to be convinced that he was the simon pure soul-mate. Although 32 years old, he had never had a sweetheart.

The Gazzam-Galvin wedding was regarded by the dwellers in Cornwall as the biggest event of a decade. The entire village turned out and overflowed the magnificent lawns of Traumerie, the Gazzam estate. The bride was cheered enthusiastically, for along the banks of the Hudson she is regarded as a "Lady Bountiful."

Before she made the final selection of the handsome young engineer as her true affinity Miss Gazzam had made two serious blunders, one of which cost her $25,000, in addition to incalculable heart pangs. That was when Marshall Clark, better known as "Niblo, the palmist and psychic," convinced her that she was really his affinity, notwithstanding that he had a wife who was a very active member of the psychic community. Mme. Mizpah sued Miss Gazzam for the alienation of her husband's affections and the young heiress settled the suit for $25,000.

MR. BERNARD JONES DEAD.

Passed Away Yesterday Morning At Home on Bellevue Street.

His many friends throughout the city will learn with regret of the death of Mr. Bernard L. Jones, which occurred at the family residence, 862 Bellevue street, yesterday morning at 8 o'clock. Mr. Jones was 26 years of age and for some time had been a sufferer from tuberculosis.

Since coming to this city several years ago from Rockingham county Mr. Jones made many friends. He was a quiet-mannered young man and was possessed of a disposition that enabled him to make friends of all his acquaintances. He was devoted to his mother and other members of his family. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Minnie Jones, two brothers, Messrs. Charles, of Reidsville, and Walter, of Indiana, and two sisters, Misses Pearl and Mattie, of this city.

The funeral will be held from the late residence this morning at 9 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. F. Staley, pastor of Asheboro Street Baptist church. The remains will be carried to Midway church, near Reidsville, for interment. Mr. Jones was a member of Greensboro Council, No. 13, Junior Order United American Mechanics and all members of the council are requested to meet at the residence ,862 Bellevue street, this morning at 9 o'clock to attend the funeral.

Mark Master Mason.

To those who have not been through the ceremony, the mystic letters, H. T. W. S. S. T. K. S. are a riddle. To those who know they are full of meaning. This degree, being built upon facts connected with the Temple of Solomon, is very interesting and instructive. The local chapter of R. F. M. will confer this degree tonight on a few select brethren, after which oysters, coffee and cigars will be served at the dining rooms.

If any visiting brethren are in the city, it is hoped that they will make themselves known. The entire membership will join in giving you a good time.

THE BUCHANAN STREET PAVING

Action Again Postponed by Aldermen.

Committee Appointed To See Southern With View of Having Space Between Street Line and Passenger Station Paved With Vitrified Brick At Same Time Street Is Paved—One Objection to Work on Street.

At last night's meeting of the aldermen the matter of paving Buchanan street from the Huffine building to Elm street was taken up and discussed, but final action was postponed until the regular meeting and a committee appointed to ascertain if the Southern Railway Company would not pave the space between the street and the passenger station. The Southern made no objection to paying its proportionate part for paving the street, but as nothing has been said regarding the other work to the company Mr. J. N. Wilson, attorney for the company, was unable to state whether the company would be willing to do this extra work or not.

After the matter had been discussed at length the board went into executive session for a few minutes and when business was resumed the above action was taken. Mayor Stafford appointed Alderman Smith and King as the committee to wait on the railway authorities. Mr. D. R. Huffines objected to paying his part for paving the street unless the work was done thoroughly and the entire street was paved. No other objection was made.

As has been stated heretofore the aldermen were under the impression at the time the first ordinance regarding the paving of the street was passed that the Southern was not only willing to pay its part for the street paving, but was willing to have the space between the street and the passenger station paved with the same material as the company would be benefited by the improvement even more than the city as the street is used largely for the convenience of the passengers and the hauling of their baggage. So the aldermen and Street Commission in passing the ordinance did not think it necessary to see the company regarding the paving of the space, taking it for granted that this work would be done.

It is believed that the Southern will do this work as the street would not be of as much service should curbing be placed on the south side of the street. And in event this is done then the Southern will be required to put down a cement sidewalk directly across the space now used by hotel busses and baggage wagons, making it impractical for the vehicles to be backed up to the building as at present and making it necessary for passengers to walk to the street to get in the hotel busses. This would, of course, raise a howl from the traveling public as it would greatly inconvenience passengers desiring to stop over here. At any rate the proposition will be laid before the railroad authorities and they will decide what steps the company shall take.

The aldermen extended the time for the penalty on taxes from Nov. 1 to Jan. 1 as is usually done. After Jan. 1, 1911, a penalty of 1-2 of one per cent. will be charged on all unpaid taxes. This penalty will increase with each month thereafter. The law fixes the time for Nov. 1, but the books are hardly ever ready by this time so the time is generally extended.

Contest Party En Route To Raleigh.

Among the passengers on No. 22 yesterday en route for the State Fair at Raleigh were eight farmers from Catawba county, winners in a popularity contest conducted by the Catawba County News at Newton. They were Messrs. D. M. Brittain, J. W. Dellinger, James Love, Frank E. Bost, G. L. Hallman, J. T. Yoder, J. W. Gabriel, Jr., and G. E. Moser, one from each of the eight townships in Catawba county. The party was accompanied by Messrs. Charles H. Mebane and George F. Cochran, of The News. The party was given a luncheon at the Huffine.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Robert W .Gillie, Arlington Street, Reidsville, N. C., says: "I can heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a splendid remedy for kidney complaint. I was relieved of pains through the small of my back by short use of this remedy. I did not take Doan's Kidney Pills as repularly as I should to have obtained the best results, but I nevertheless found them very beneficial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

THESE HORSES SMOKE PIPES

Albert Schuman, .of .German .Circus, Brings Wonderful Company to America.

The man who saw a horse smoke a pipe would no doubt discredit his eyesight. If on coming home early in the morning he saw one horse rolling another horse down the street in a barrel, he would quickly consult the Keeley method. These are two sights that will be seen in Greensboro when Ringling Brother's World's Greatest Shows come to town on Monday, October 24. In Berlin last winter a foreign agent of Ringling Brother's circus visited Albert Schuman's indoor circus and witnessed the wizard's latest achievement in training horses. The act was the most wonderful example of animal training in history. The horses entered the arena in large barrels heaped on a brewery wagon. They were not discovered until they kicked the heads out of the barrels and jumped into the ring. There were fifteen horses in the company. They began their performance by pulling the bungs from the kegs and catching a beer-like fluid in glasses. Sitting at a long table they lifted these glasses to their lips and drank to the Kaiser.

Later one of the horses entered the amphitheatre hitched to a light phaeton. While the driver turned to flirt with his fair passenger, the horse kicked himself out of his harness, took his master by the collar, tossed him out of his seat, and, climbing into the carriage, sat down beside the astonished young woman.

All of these horses waltzed together to the music of the band. They operated teeter-boards. From the beginning of the act to the end, they remained standing on their hind feet. Albert Shcuman sat on a high stool near the ring and directed them without once using a whip.

This is the act that Ringling Brothers have engaged for this season. It will be seen here just as it was presented in Berlin. Never in a lifetime has any man or woman in America seen a real trained horse act. This act is so high above others of its kind as to be something entirely different. Albert Schuman has devoted a lifetime to his work. His institutions in Berlin, Scheveningen and Frankfort are among the biggest attractions to tourists who travel in Europe. He has made several million dollars exhibiting and training horses. It took more money to bring him and his company of equines to America than any other circus has ever spent in an entire season.

There is a great deal of comedy in the act. Under Schuman's tutelage the horse develops a wonderful sense of humor. One animal in his company smokes a pipe. Another plays the part of an inn-keeper in a delightfully comic way. They play football and jump the rope. There seems to be nothing beyond their power except speech.

Another novel trained animal act is presented by Prof. Kealey's telephoning elephants. There are fifteen of them. They occupy all the circus rings at the same time. The rings are connected by telephones. In the center is the exchange. Conversations in elephantine language, are carried on from one end of the tent to the other. Many other feats are accomplished by these big beasts. The act is all new.

The trained animal specialties of this show are all exceptional. None of the mediocrity of other shows is found here. Every act is a head-liner. There are no small acts used as "fillers." Every act is a feature.

Bishop Cause Sensation By Criticising Certain Class of Ministers.

York, Pa., Oct. 18.—Bishop W. M. Weekly, preaching yesterday at the United Brethren Conference, at Dallastown, created a sensation by censuring those ministers who show too great attention to the women of their congregation. Taking for his theme "Little Foxes Among Ministerial Vines," he said, in part:

"I do not regard it a flattering compliment to a preacher to be called a lady's man. With the great majority of ministers there is no room for criticism, but with some there is a tinge of suspicion. No matter where they go, if there are ladies in sight, they show their importance and are always sure to be there. They make it a point to sit with them in church, to flirt with them on the street and to stroll with them in the parks."

The Bishop also reproved those ministers who go about badly dressed and excuse themselves by the smallness of their pay.

Forced To Leave Home.

Its positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, LaGrippe, Asthma, Croup—all Throat and Lung troubles, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

STRENUOUS LIVING.

A Long Day In the Life of an English Lady In 1791.

As for industrious idleness, which is held to blame for the wrecking of our nervous systems, it was not unknown to an earlier generation. Mme. le Brun assures us that in her youth pleasure loving people would leave Brussels early in the morning, travel all day to Paris to hear the opera and travel all night home. "That," she observes—as well she may—"was considered being fond of the opera."

A paragraph in one of Horace Walpole's letters gives us the record of a day and a night in the life of an English lady—sixteen hours of "strain" which would put New York to the blush. "I heard the Duchess of Gordon's journal of last Monday," he writes to Miss Berry in the spring of 1791. "She first went to hear Handel's music in the abbey; she then clambered over the benches and went to Hasting's trial in the hall, after dinner to the play, then to Lady Lucan's assembly, after that to Ranelagh and returned to Mrs. Hobert's faro table; gave a ball herself in the evening of that morning, into which she must have got a good way, and set out for Scotland the next day. Hercules could not have accomplished a quarter of her labors in the same space of time." — Atlantic Monthly.

"You have not attended church lately?"

"Nope, got a cow."

"What has that got to do with it?"

"Milk her myself."

"But what difference does that make?"

"You don't expect me to milk a cow and be a Christian during fly time?"—Houston Post.

THE NEW WOMAN OF 1955

By AMANDA V. NICHOLS.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

His mother said I should not have him, his father was on my side, but with the change that has been coming on during the past half century in the transfer of the government of the family from the man to the woman his father's wishes counted for nothing. Even formerly, when the woman was supposed to be obedient to her husband, she ruled him, some said by tact; it was really by persistence. But now that she has got him under there is no need of either tact or persistence. She rules him because she is his superior.

Well, as I was saying, Charlie had accepted me, and there was nothing to be desired but his mother's consent, when his father, as ill luck would have it, made a dash to recover the family management, asserting that Charlie should be mine. This spoiled everything. "We shall see," said Mrs. Spangler. The result was that Charlie and I lost the support of the head of the family, while the support of the foot was of no benefit to us. Mr. Spangler sulked, but said nothing. Mrs. Spangler threatened him with divorce, and since the new law gives the woman in such cases not only the property, but the children, Charlie's father asked forgiveness.

However, I was better satisfied to have a foe worthy of a woman's opposition than a delicate man, whose heart was in the right place, but was that of a chicken. I went at once to Mrs. Spangler and said to her:

"Madam, I love your son. When I told him so I knew before he spoke by his blushes that my love was returned. 'But,' he said. 'alas, mother will not consent.' Madam, I have come to tell you that whether you consent or not your son shall be mine."

There came o'er her lips one of those steely smiles betokening that will power which has made women dominant despite their inferiority of muscular power, and she said, drawing a hatpin—not one of the little spikes of forty years ago, but an elongated stiletto:

"Take him!"

The words were few, but they outweighed the pyramids. I recoiled. But love put new vigor into me. At the same time I remembered that she was the mother of the man I loved. To kill her would be to raise an impassable barrier between me and Charlie. I resolved to discover if in this stern woman there was a trace left of the grandmothers as they were before our new birth.

"Consider your own love," I said, "for him who is now your husband."

She tapped the table nervously with the hilt of her hatpin. I saw that I had touched memories now unpleasant to her. I tried another tack.

"Do you know, madam," I said, "that in the reconstruction of the English house of lords which occurred some twenty years ago titles are now given direct to women?"

"I do."

"Well, I have influence with her majesty to secure a title."

"But you will expect some millions with Charlie."

"Not a cent."

"Charlie is bound up in what he loves," she said meditatively. "It would break that tender heart of his to oppose him."

I saw my advantage. "I can be Earl of Ballymore for the asking," I said.

"Charlie under a coronet!" she mused dreamily.

"And think how happy our union will make his father."

Fool! To spoil all by this reference to the man who had said our wish should be granted despite his wife's opposition! The cold, steely smile returned. Fingering the hatpin as if hungry for blood, she hissed:

"Three lives shall be sacrificed rather than that my son shall ever be yours!"

"Very well, madam," I said, drawing one of the new belt dagger ornaments with a mother-of-pearl handle and shaking it under her nose—"very well, madam, since you wish it let it be war to the knife!" Then I withdrew.

When I told Charlie what had happened he put his head on my shoulder and cried as if his heart would break.

"Steady, darling," I said. "It becomes us to act with decision."

"What do you mean?"

"We will walk out and be married."

"I could never do it!" he moaned.

"Be brave."

"I will ask papa what he would do if he were I. You women don't understand how much we young men need a father's love and sympathy."

"Charlie," I said, "if putting the necessary pluck into you depends upon your father you will never be mine."

"I am but a man. I dare not disobey my mother."

"Charles," I said, giving vent to the scorn I was beginning to feel for this fragile creature, "it is all over between us. Either I will marry a man in whom there is some independence, one who has not always been and always will be his mother's slave, or I will never marry at all."

"What can I do? Once we men took the lead. Did we tyrannize over women? No; we loved them so well, gave them so much of their own way, that they subjected us. And being subject to them is very different from their former subjection to us. They are crushing us."

I left him in disgust.

If Marion Butler were the best rough and ready debater in the world, the fact ought not to have any weight in influencing people to vote for or against him. The voter wants to ask himself, Can Butler be trusted? If he can't be, his ability as a debater or along any other line is only the greater reason why the voter should decline to give him the least aid and comfort.

Wellman's undertakings are not practicable. The north pole was never visited but once by humans and yet Wellman proposed to go there by airship when it was certainly hard enough to be reached by the ordinary methods of locomotion. Nobody ever traveled three thousand miles by airship across country and yet before this feat had been demonstrated as practicable, Wellman seeks to travel by airship that distance across a waste of waters. He evidently has courage a plenty, but is lacking in judgment.

The Danville Register is alert to the benefits that would accrue from the coming into a town of an interurban system. It says:

A suggestion just made by a Reidsville correspondent of this paper that efforts be inaugurated here to expedite the extension of the system of interurban trolley lines from Spartanburg, S. C., to this city, touching Greenville, Anderson, Chester, Charlotte, Concord, Salisbury, Greensboro, Durham, Winston-Salem, Gastonia and other points, seems to us worthy of consideration by the business interests of this city. The ultimate extension of the line from Greensboro through Reidsville to Danville is regarded as assured, but the important point we would stress is the wisdom of efforts to hasten this extension.

The Register then goes on to point out the beneficial results which would follow the building of such a line. Just now the country, the Piedmont section included, is somewhat distracted over politics. But the election will soon be a thing of the past and as soon as it is over we believe that Greensboro should get right after this interurban project and, in the language of the street, "see what there is to it." Danville is considerably further away from the seat of war than Greensboro is, and if Danville can see a chance for Danville to get in the procession surely there is excellent reason for Greensboro to feel hopeful and, feeling hopeful, to get busy.

Marion Butler having challenged Senator Simmons to joint debate, the Senator comes back at him thus, according to an article in yesterday's Charlotte Observer:

"I have said repeatedly and say now that no decent Democrat would hold a joint discussion with Marion Butler in the light in which he now appears before the people of the State.

"The people of the State have passed judgment on him. It is a judgment of outlawry.

"And so far as his statement of purpose to hire a hall to denounce me if I did not accept his challenge I only want to say that I will regard his denunciation as a badge of honor.

"A few days ago I denouncedButler in the papers of the State as a liar and a scoundrel and that was the end of it with me so far as he was concerned. I have not changed my opinion of him since."

Butler has said that in the event that Senator Simmons would not meet him in joint debate, he, Butler, would hire a hall in Raleigh and denounce him. Senator Simmons states that he would regard such denunciation as a badge of honor. So he is no doubt hoping that former Senator Butler will carry out his threat—a thing which he probably will not do if he does not desire to make his plight and that of his party worse than it already is. To hire a hall for the avowed and expressed purposes of abuse and denunciation is just about the limit of political animosity.

SOCIETY BOUGHT HIS LOVE CHARMS

Prof. Leon De Voux, Seer, Trapped by Police.

Washington, October 18.—Prof. Leon DeVoux, sorcerer, mystic and seer, languished all last night behind the bars in the local calaboose, wrapped in thought as to the failure of his mystic powers, but Prof. Leon DeVoux wasn't half as much worried as are hundreds of prominent society men and women in this city, who are wondering if their letters to him will get into print.

The seer has been doing a landoffice business here lately selling love charms. The charms were small chamois bags, which cost from $20 to $100, according to the amount the seer could get. The love bags are very powerful and were warranted to bring back a recreant lover or to thaw a human iceberg into fervent passion. Sometimes, too, if your health wasn't good and indigestion bothered, the charm bag would help some, and maybe if you lost your watch and you bought a charm bag you might get it back. At any event, whether the charm bags proved useful or not, Professor DeVoux did a splendid business. He had an appointment book setting dates when he could hear tales of woe and sell a charm bag to cure the woes and the detectives who have captured the book declare that the Professor made more money than almost any other promoter in Washington. Thus his entries on September 20 read: $23, $10, $40, $20. $9, $8, showing a total of $120. On Wednesday, September 21, business was particularly good, amounting to $204. He had no fixed prices.

The detectives have captured an enormous correspondence. Maids and matrons high in Washington society have not hesitated to confide to the professor their love worries. Sometimes it was even their own husbands whose errant affections the ladies wanted back. Other notes would prove interesting reading. The police have been appealed to from influential sources not to make any of the correspondence public. Incidentally there are not a few prominent citizens in Washington who will follow the DeVoux case if it ever comes to trial with deep interest not free from apprehension. It is almost incredible to learn that certain men and women in this city of culture and education have sought assistance by "love potions" and charm bags from a professional seer.

DeVoux's exposure was so easily accomplished that his long career of success is a mystery. The police suspected DeVoux for sometime. Finally Mrs. Thornberg, a matron at one of the police stations, wrote to DeVoux and asked his help to win the love of one who was cold. She called on the seer at various times and laid bare her throbbing heart. DeVoux diagnosed the case and told her she needed "magnetic influence." He had the influence he said at $100. When Mrs. Thornberg replied that the magnetic influence came too high he offered her a lucky bag for $50. She said she had only $20, and the professor consented to accept that. The next day Mrs. Thornberg called on him with $20 in notes, everyone of which had been carefully marked for identification. As soon as the professor had given her the lucky bag and had taken the money, detectives rushed in and arrested him. And so he went to jail.

Mrs. Thornberg violated her explicit instructions from the seer and opened her lucky bag. She found inside of it two nails, very rusty; some hair of nondescript color, some ashes and some other rubbish which she has not yet been able to identify.

Somewhere out West there appears to have been another seer who was working malicious animal magnetism on the professor. He wrote him a letter beginning with "Dishonorable Sir" and casting for the professor a horoscope full of trouble. "I predict that your fortune shall be swept away from you like the chaff before a prairie fire in a cyclonic storm. You shall have no pleasant dreams, and you might as well take your bed upon your back and go," wrote the opposition seer from out West.

His rival's mystic powers seem to have overcome the professor's occult science, for the professor, spending the night in the station house, certainly had no pleasant dreams. Today he has had an opportunity to take his bed on his back and go, because he had been released on bail.

Death of Mrs. Annie M. Hoskins.

Mrs. Annie M. Hoskins, after an illness of three weeks, died last night at 8 o'clock at the residence of Miss Eileen Neale, corner of West Lee street and McCormick avenue. Her brother, Charles E. McCormick, of Massillon, Ohio; her niece, Mrs. V. Marvin Womack, of Atlanta, and her nephew, Willie Neale, of Columbus, Ohio, arrived in time to be at Mrs. Hoskins' bedside when she died. The funeral will take place at 10 a. m. Friday from St. Benedict's Catholic church when mass will be celebrated by Rev. Father Vincent.

Sherman to Speak Here.

Announcement is made that Vice President J. S. Sherman will make a political speech in Greensboro on Thursday, Oct. 27. He will speak at noon on that date and leave during the afternoon for Charlotte.

Rev. C. H. Hounshell.

Rev. C. H. Hounshell, a prominent missionary worker, will arrive in the city today and remain over night. Tomorrow he will speak to the students of Guilford College.

To the Workhouse.

Police Officer H. O. Hayworth, of High Point, was here yesterday to place in jail Agnes Daniel, colored, who is to serve a sixty day sentence in the workhouse for fighting.

"Don't Let the Girlies Get You."

That's the theme that runs through the song of that name now being sung with immense success in the great musical farce, "Alma, Where Do You Live?"

The words of the song are by George V. Hobart, the well-known author, while Jean Briquet is given credit for the music.

This is the song and the play that is drawing the crowds to Weber's Theatre, New York City.

And it is this song—the words and music complete—that will go free as a special feature with each copy of next Sunday's New York World.

A great newspaper and a great song for a few cents. Order a copy from your newsdealer in advance.

MOTHER AND WORKER DISTINCT

Prof. Woodworth Predicts Separate Classes For Future Woman.

San Francisco, Oct. 19.—That commercialism and modern civilization are tending to produce two distinct classes of women—one the woman with maternal instincts and the other the professional woman—is the theory which Prof. C. W. Woodworth, head of the division of entomology at the University of California, advances in "Human Social Problems," a new book on which he is now at work.

Professor Woodworth has made a life-long study of sociological conditions in connection with his investigations in the animal world. Just as wasps, bees, ants and other insects of the social family have one insect that is set aside for the mother of the group, he suggests in this anticipated evolution woman will be segregated into two distinct classes—the mother and the worker.

This woman of the future generations is by no means to be decried, according to the theory of Professor Woodworth. She will represent the highest type of civilization, a perfection in mind and body that will far surpass that of the woman of the present age.

He suggests that the future will require the limiting of the numbers in a family or of the number of families, and that small families are neither wise for the child nor economical.

He declares that one-tenth of the present feminine population of the world could, as mothers, perpetuate the race, and argues the benefits of fewer mothers and larger families.

FUNERAL OF MISS BRENT

Service Held From Residence of Dr. Whitsett Yesterday Morning.

The funeral of Miss Sallie Brent, whose death occurred Tuesday morning, was held from the residence of Dr. G. W. Whitsett, Church street, yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock, the service being conducted by Rev. D. M. Litaker, pastor of Centenary church. A large number of sorrowing friends gathered to pay their last respects to all that remained of a much beloved and Christian woman. There were a large number of beautiful floral tributes. Following the service the remains were interred in Green Hill cemetery, the following acting as pall-bearers: Messrs. C. H. Dorsett, J. J. Stone, J. W. Landreth, O. F. Pearce, N. L. Eure and T. C. Hoyle.

Golf Tournament Postponed.

On account of the rain yesterday the qualification match in the golf tournament could not be played and it is hardly probable that the grounds can be used this afternoon. The tournament will be played at an early date, however, the weather permitting.

When people flatter us we are always inclined to think they mean well.

TO WELCOME DR. WASHINGTON

Mayor Stafford Will Appoint Committee For This Purpose.

The committee appointed by the local Business Men's League composed of Prof. C. H. Moore, national organizer of Negro Business Men's League; G. H. Mitchell, president of local league; President S. A. Peeler, of Bennett College; Prof. H. H. Falkener, of the city schools; E. A. Adkins, chairman of finance committee, and Dr. Thomas Watkins, treasurer of the local league, appeared last night before the Board of Aldermen and tendered them an invitation to be present at the addresses delivered by Dr. Booker Washington in Greensboro on October 30 and 31. After listening to the speakers the different members of the board expressed themselves as being highly pleased with Dr. Washington's prospective visit to the city, and the mayor was instructed to appoint a committee to co-operate with the local league in welcoming Dr. Washington and his distinguished party to Greensboro.

CURRY GETS TWO YEARS.

Three Larceny Cases Against Negro Boy Yesterday Morning.

In Municipal court yesterday morning John Curry, the negro boy charged with stealing a bicycle, two auto tires, three billiard balls and a hat, was given a hearing in three separate cases, the charge in each being larceny. In one case he was given a year on the roads, while he was given six months on the roads in each of the other cases.

T. J. Wheeler was arraigned on the charge of obstructing the street by allowing a vehicle to remain overnight on the street without having a light on it. He was let off on payment of the costs.

The three young men who on Monday entered a plea of nolo contendere in a gambling case, were fined $50 each and costs.

The seat of learning frequently has a bent pin on it.

NEW DEPARTURE.

After two months of remarkable sales, Howard Gardner, the enterprising druggist, says that his plan of selling at half price the regular 50 cent size of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia, and guaranteeing to refund the money if it does not cure, has been the greatest success he has ever known.

He has sold hundreds of bottles of the specific; and as yet has not had one returned, although he stands ready at any time to refund the money should any customer be dissatisfied.

Anyone suffering with dyspepsia, constipation, liver troubles, headaches, dizziness, coated tongue, or the general tired feeling, caused by inactive liver and bowels or disordered digestion, should take advantage of Howard Gardner's new departure.

MRS. McLEOD RECEIVES

Interesting Social Event Given In Honor of Miss Queenie McDonald.

One of the prettiest receptions of the season was one given yesterday afternoon from 3:30 to 6 by Mrs. D. V. McLeod at her home on Price street in honor of Miss Queenie McDonald who is to marry Mr. D. Elwell Maxwell, of Jacksonville, Fla., next Wednesday, October 26.

The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion in pink and white chrysanthemums, dahlias and ferns.

Cards were played and the tally cards were heart-shaped, with hand-painted cupids holding the customary bow and arrow. Favors were given each guest, consisting of little baskets filled with mints.

The hostess presented the guest of honor with a beautiful "Brides Book" and each guest wrote her good wishes, these being afterwards read to the entire party.

The color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the refreshments. Pink ice cream molded in heart shape with cupids was very appropriate for the occasion. Delicious cake, mints and almonds were also served.

THE DIFFERENCE

between a dollar saved and a dollar spent is just two dollars. Did it ever occur to you that way? It's worth thinking about.

Another difference is the feeling you have afterward. The dollar saved gives you a feeling of real pleasure—it may call for a little sacrifice for the time being, but afterward you feel better for having denied yourself and the dollar is still yours. That is the nice thing about having money in the bank—you have saved it—it is still yours—you can have it when you wish.

We make it a part of our business to urge you to have a bank account at this bank, for it not only helps our business but yours more so.

GROWING CHILDREN.

play hard and work hard at school, and rapid growth uses up an enormous amount of energy and vitality that needs replacing.

This accounts for the many delicate, sickly and ailing children, we see on our streets.

We wish the mother of every such child would come to our store for a bottle of Vinol, as it is a delicious cod liver and iron tonic which children love to take, and it is easily assimilated.

A grateful mother in Durand, Mich., says her little girl was weak, pale, and had no appetite. She gave her Vinol and she began to thrive at once—and she gained rapidly in weight, color and strength. (Name furnished on request.)

Vinol builds up good healthy flesh and muscle tissue and makes thin little limbs round and plump.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that if it does not benefit your child your money will be returned. Fariss-Klutz Drug Co., Greensboro, N. C.

PRIEST RAPS NOVEL READERS

Rev. G. L. Conlan, Missionary, Condemns Fickle Women in Sermon.

Baltimore Sun.

Fickle and improperly educated women, fops and salacious novel readers met with a sweeping condemnation in a trenchant sermon delivered by Rev. George I. Conlon, of New York, at the high mass at St. John's Catholic church, Valley and Eager streets, yesterday morning. Father Conlon is one of the three Dominican Fathers who are now conducting a mission at the church.

The subject of his sermon was "Home," and it was while he was pleading for the virtues of the true Christian family which should constitute the home life that the speaker scathingly denounced some of the prominent evils of today. It was in speaking upon the marriage question that Father Conlon paid his respects to the vain and selfish woman.

"It seems to me," he said, "that some of our Christian daughters are highly yet improperly educated. Their learning make them narrow and arrogant. They begin to look with disdain on the humble, honest mechanics who earn their bread in the sweat of their daily toil and who would make for them model husbands and pleasant homes. They look rather to be broker's clerk with $10 or $12 in his pockets, aping the ways of his millionaire employers, carrying a gold-headed cane, wearing high silk hats and silk cravats. Many a young lady makes trouble for herself when she is captivated by such men, instead of receiving the attention of honest, industrious, humble youths.

"Such women are deceived by the glitter about them and the pleasing unreality of the moment. Too many of them devote their time or rather waste their time in reading trashy novels. Nine-tenths of the novels which are read palliate crime and immorality. The heroines are they who run off with the husbands of other women. Vice is glorified, and immoral love indorsed.

"The novel-reading girl is generally irreligious; at least, such an employment gives her a distaste for prayer and the practice of her other religious duties. The young lady who is contempating matrimony should consult with one who can direct her right.

"The germ of all public and private life is the family. Successful men are, as a rule, the husbands of good, clever, pure-minded women. God grant that we will have men who will hold no place dearer on earth, save God's sanctuary, than their home. As a mother woman is the queen of the Christian family; she is her husband's treasure. A wife will have no companions, male or female, whom her husband does not know and approve. She will cling to him through joy and sorrow. History attests that many heroines who have become true and loyal, brave and stout-hearted in times of danger were weak and volatile in the days of peace and pleasure. Let the father and mother see that their children are properly brought up. Girls, as a rule, are more stubborn than boys. Do not chastise in a moment of passion, but let your child see the meaning of the punishment. Be kind but firm."

London as It Was.

Haydn's "Dictionary of Dates" makes the statement that the old name of the city of London was written Lynden or Llyndin, meaning "the city on the lake." An old tradition gives us to understand that London was founded by Brute, a descendant of Aeneas, and called New Troy or Troynovant until the time of Lud, who surrounded the town with walls and named it Caer-Lud, or Lud's Town. This latter is probably the correct version of the story, if for no other reason because it is an easy matter to detect a similarity between the expression Lud's Town and London. It is claimed by some writers that there was a citiy on the same spot 1,107 years B. C., and it is known that the Romans founded a city there called Londinium A. D. 61.

WHAT CURES ECZEMA?

We have had so many inquiries lately regarding Eczema and other skin diseases, that we are glad to make our answer public. After careful investigation we have found that a simple wash of Oil of Wintergreen, as compounded in D. D. D., can be relied upon. We would not make this statement to our patrons, friends and neighbors unless we were sure of it—and although there are many so-called Eczema remedies sold, we ourselves unhesitatingly recommend D. D. D. Prescription.

Because—We know that it gives instant relief to that torturing itch.

Because—D. D. D. starts the cure at the foundation of the trouble.

Because—It cleanses, soothes and heals the skin.

Because—It enables Nature to repair the ravages of the disease.

Because—The records of ten years of complete cures of thousands of the most sericus cases show that D. D. D. is today recognized as the absolutely reliable Eczema cure.

AFRAID OF MOONLIGHT.

The Reason Porto Ricans Carry Umbrellas at Night.

"The majority of Porto Ricans have instilled in them from earliest infancy a superstitious dread of the full moon's rays," said a business man who has just returned from that country.

"It is a curious sight to the American visitor to note men and women going along the streets and highways of the island with umbrellas raised over their heads in the lone watches of the night, and the more brilliantly the moon is shining the greater will be the number of people who are thus protecting themselves from her beams. Out in the sequestered rural districts a gay mounted cavalier will be met at midnight, his bridle rein in one hand and an upraised umbrella in the other. It looks weird and also ridiculous, but the natives do it for a peculiar reason. They are possessed of the conviction that Luna's full light striking upon mortals is almost sure to make them mentally unsound—that is to say, lunatics—and that is why they interpose a shield between them and her dazzling brightness.

"To sleep where the moon could shine full upon one is, in the view of a Porto Rican, to tempt fate, and it would be a daring one who could be hired to do it for any consideration."—Baltimore American.

Before I used Foley Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self." Sold by Howard Gardner.

DEMOCRATIC SPEAKINGS.

Several Prominent Members of Party Will Make Addresses in City and Vicinity.

The services of several prominent Democrats have been secured by County Chairman E. G. Sherrill and Congressional Chairman A. Wayland Cooke for speeches in Greensboro and vicinity between now and Nov. 8. Prominent among this number is Hon. Whitehead Klutz, of Salisbury, who will speak here on Monday night, Oct. 24. Mr. Klutz is one of the most talented young men in the State and is a speaker of unusual oratorical power. He will doubtless be greeted by a large crowd on Monday night. Directly after the address a Democratic club will be organized.

Hon. Locke Craig, of Asheville, will make an address here during the campaign as will ex-Gov. Glenn also.

Gov. W. W. Kitchin will deliver an address in the courthouse on the night of November 3.

"WE WANT HOLIDAY," THE CRY

When This Is Refused, Denver Students Strike.

Denver, Col., Oct. 19.—"We want a holiday" was the burden of the shouts of more than 300 students at Denver University, who reinforced their demands with clanging cowbells, drums, tin horns and cans, stormed recitation rooms and declared a strike when their demands were refused. According to custom the students were given a holiday on the Monday following a football victory.

Saturday the Denver University football eleven held the Marquette team of Milwaukee to a 0-to-0 score. A number of enthusiasts consider this in effect a victory and demanded that the usual custom be observed.

Shortly after 9 o'clock nearly 100 students, led by four upper class men, stormed the main building, entered class rooms, dragging students and professors into the hall and threatening to throw belligerent professors through the windows.

Deaf to these appeals, Chancellor H. A. Buchtel at chapel informed the students that classes would be held as usual. This order was met by the declaration of a strike by members of the raiding party.

Fearing that the insurgents will be given holidays for the remainder of the year when the faculty meets, nearly 200 students have signed a pledge to stay away from classes if any of the participants are suspended until they are reinstated.

MANY COPIES CALLED FOR

Dolliver Tariff Speech Sowed Broadcast by Democrats.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Senator Dolliver's death has caused a brisk demand for the late Senator's speeches against the tariff which the Democratic Congressional Committee finds itself unable to supply. So sharp is this demand that one of the attaches at Democratic headquarters remarked this afternoon: "Dolliver may be dead, but his spirit goes marching on with the voters."

Already the Democratic committee has sent the speech broadcast. Not less than 600,000 copies were printed shortly after the adjournment of Congress, and these are about gone. Mr. Dolliver's speech is considered one of the best Democratic campaign documents in years. Following his death the document headquarters in this city have been flooded with telegrams for copies of his eloquent attack on the tariff measure passed by his party and declared by President Taft to be "the best tariff bill ever framed."

The committee has given rush orders for 100,000 additional copies, swelling the total distribution to 700,000.

Gave Them a Frost.

Mayor E. J. Stafford yesterday received a letter from a league advocating high license saloons, asking for his opinion regarding the success of prohibition in Greensboro. An opinion blank was sent and the mayor answered each question in the affirmative, which will doubtless prove a knockout blow to their hopes of securing aid from Greensbo in their effort to create sentiment in favor of saloons. The mayor is a firm believer in prohibition and it afforded him pleasure to certify to the success of the law in the city.

Building Permit.

Inspector Milton yesterday issued a permit to Mr. J. Baach for improvements on his residence on Chestnut street. The estimated cost is $2,000. Mr. Baach recently purchased the residence for some time occupied by Mr. G. W. Denny.
